A MAJOR INDUSTRY, the Phenix Furniture Company, stands on Carver st., east of Memorial field. It is a going business with a large plant. It wouldn't come cheap.

COSTLY NO DOUBT would be strips like this which lie between Memorial field and the tracks. Costly because little but parking space would be gained, and buildings must be razed.

MANY HOMES. On all sides there are homes. Even along Carver, next to the Phenix Furniture plant, there are a half dozen, some not visible in this picture. And back of them are more.

Another School Site?

The discussion of proposed sites for the Warren area's new high school continues, with the public showing a greater interest every week. One suggestion is that land be bought near War Memorial Field, thus bringing the athletic facilities of the field close to the school. Parking space also could be created.

A look at the area reveals that this would be very expensive. On the south are railroad tracks, on the east are a large factory and a half dozen homes, on the west is a block of twenty-five homes and two industrial plants, and on the north are valuable residential blocks which reach to Pennsylvania ave. The cost of any one of these blocks would be at least a quarter of a million dollars.

Most of the land around Memorial Field is zoned as industrial, which is not ideal for a school site. The area south of the field is very much industrial, and is criss-crossed by tracks.

A site on the very edge of town would be equally as close to most pupils, would cost less, and probably would enjoy more help from the state. Such a site we will discuss in future issues.

PLAYGROUND. This is the playground west of the athletic portion of the field. Without it a major part of the most heavily populated section of Warren would be without a play area. It cannot be lost. In the far corner are the buildings of Nelson and Elberg.

THREE BLOCKS of homes stretch along Lexington ave., north of Memorial field. Taking any one of these blocks stretching back to Pennsylvania ave. would require a major investment.

FOURTEEN TIMES a Champion! While a fair sized audience followed Tim Creal and Skip Morine around the Conewango Valley Country Club to watch them match shots in the finals of the club golf championship, most of those present were wondering if a young champion finally had been developed. So absorbed were they in Skip's efforts to climb the heights that they missed a major accomplishment. Tim Creal, twice the age of his young challenger, was steadily banging them out and in for his fourteenth championship. He won it, 3 and 2, when Skip missed the sixteenth green.

Fairway Drives

Tim Creal again is champion of the Conewango Valley Country Club golfers, winning the honor for the fourteenth time by defeating Skip Morine, 3 and 2, in a thirty-six hole match. In losing, Skip revealed promise of a strong game when he has gained polish and experience.

In other golf tournament action, Bob Blair defeated Dave Hamilton to win the first flight, Bob Walsh meets John Trevenan in the consolation finals. John Carter took Walt Dremann for second flight honors, and George Juline will meet Heggis Schmidt for consolation.

Dr. Yerg and Bill Lutz, Jr. are third flight finalists, with Herb Proctor and Westy Ensworth in the consolation. Kerm Vicander and Bill Simonsen are fourth flight finalists, with Fred Printz and Scotty Calderwood consoling.

In the sixth, Neil Culbertson plays Carl Lundahl to see who meets Don Conaway, and Joe Gobliger plays the winner of the Lyle Knapp and Ray Stein match.

Bob Alexander is waiting in the seventh flight finals for John Fanaritis and Lou Wanner to play. Dr. O'Connor and J. Bailey are consolationists.

Dick Costley and Jerry Waxman meet in the eighth flight finals and Hans Link and Bob Voigt have at it in the consolation. In the ninth, Andy Paucak meets either Byron Knapp or Stu Beckley, and the loser takes on Harry Barley.

In weekly play at the club, Chuck Blackman placed first and second in a pitching contest, coming within two feet, six inches, and three feet, seven inches of No. Nine. Frank Perrin was third. Bill Simonsen won a tourney held for non-winners, followed by Jerry Waxman and Merle Rossell. Bill Lundahl won the other tournament, chased by Frank Perrin and Tom Atwell.

Mrs. David Beaty and Harold Smith won the mixed two-ball foursome on Labor Day with a net 64. Second with 66 were Mrs. William Fuelhart and Charles Thompson, and third with 67 were Mrs. George Templeton and Harry Barley. Low gross for the day was 78, shot by Mrs. John Carter and Tim Creal.

Today the men are having a dinner match and next Thursday will play a low gross and low net tournament.

The Ladies Play

The women golfers shot a blind bogey this week at the Conewango Valley Country Club, with a four-way tie between Mrs. M. G. Keller, Mrs. David Beaty, Mrs. Wendell Lawson, and Mrs. Homer Culbertson in the first division. Mrs. Lyle Knapp led the second division, and Guinevere Knapp third.

Mrs. Beaty, followed by Mrs. John Marymount, led division one net scoring. In division two it was Mrs. Robert Alexander and Mrs. Lyle Knapp, and in division three it was Mrs. W. S. Walters and Miss Knapp.

Mrs. Homer Culbertson won the August handicap tournament, with Mrs. T. W. Fisher, second. In division two, Mrs. Lyle Knapp and Mrs. Alexander were the leaders.

WASHINGTON - Senator Burnet Maybank of South Carolina, who died suddenly this week, left behind a legacy in an observation he once made. It is well worth thinking about in this time when management of our government is under direction of men lacking somewhat in boldness and imagination. It was this:

"No government ever went broke developing for the people their own natural resources."

The late Senator, former governor of his state, former mayor of Charleston, a long-time advocate of public power, came to know from personal experience just what he boiled down there, in so few words. Which is simply that development by the government, representing all our people, of our great river systems and watersheds in an integrated way for production of cheap electric power, flood control, reclamation and navigation, is a paying proposition.

The philosopher, the humanitarian, the poet like to talk and sing of the enrichment of human life deriving from proper conservation and development of our natural heritage — our water and our land. They think in terms of intangible values that come from more fertile farms, protected from threats of flood and drought and erosion. That means happy homes. That result is further brought about by the blessings of electricity to light farm homes, to serve radio and television, as well as labor-saving devices of all sorts in the house and barn.

All of those come from rivers controlled and harnessed and working for the people who live along their waters and in their valleys.

But, beyond that, such integrated river development pays off in cold cash, which is pointed out for the benefit of the hard-headed. It increases the incomes of farmers, it attracts new industries that give jobs to many people. The owners of the industries, in their profits, and the workers, in salaries and wages, realize cold cash. So does the government. For it gets its share in income tax revenues. Consequently, the government is repaid many, many times for every multi-purpose public development of our rivers and watersheds it has undertaken. That can be demonstrated, as it has, for individual projects here and there.

This is all so obvious that it seems a bit silly to explain it. It's only simple arithmetic.

Senator Maybank knew that, as do many of our public men who have contact with the people and with the land and the rivers. In his own state there is a memorial to him in which he enlisted the interest and support of the federal government back in the New Deal days. That is the Santee-Cooper project which harnessed the waters of the Smantee and Cooper rivers. It is just one of many which our native American boldness, imagination and enterprise have raised up in the last two decades to conserve and enrich our natural heritage.

We around Washington got to know Burnet Maybank back in the days when he was mayor of Charleston and, also for part of that time, chairman as well of his state's Public Service Authority, and later as governor. He was here now and again in the interest of the "Little TVA," as the Santee-Cooper project was called. From that interest he went on to another interest, conservation of our human resources. He directed his energies into efforts to clean out unsightly, unhealthy and costly slums and put in their places nice inexpensive housing units, with the federal government cooperating with local governments and private interests. When he died he was identified nationally with the slum clearance-public housing movement.

On his passing, it is worthwhile to ponder Burnet Maybank's recognition of the simple truths in conservation.

For they have been lost sight of by some who now are in authority here in matters of conservation — public officials who never seem to raise their eyes above the cash register to look out upon the land and the rivers, and what has been done for both, and with both, in great public projects that are sprinkled across our land, from Georgia and South Carolina and Tennessee to the Pacific Northwest. Some of those now in authority here seem to see development of our rivers only in terms of profits for a few corporations. They would curtail any further development of a public sort. They cannot see, as Senator Maybank did, that our people and their government are richer through integrated development of our river systems as only the government can do it; richer in every way, including the cold cash. For what he said — and here he spoke out as the true conservative he was — is certainly true: "No government ever went broke developing for the people their own natural resources."

His was the way of real economy and real conservation.

You'll probably still pay more than the cost of the $125.00 Zenith 3-transistor Royal-T

Some dealers advertise a trade-in or allowance of from $50 to $100 on your present hearing aid towards the purchase of one of their transistor models. When you go to buy one, you'll find that they usually sell for $265.00, $270.00 and up to over $285.00 each! It's easy to offer a trade-in on a hearing aid that sells at such prices but...

LOOK AT THE FACTS

Suppose you are offered a trade-in of $100.00 on a $285.00 model. Figure it out... you're still paying $185.00 for the aid. Compare that to the $125.00 Zenith Royal-T. Quite a saving when you buy a Zenith. Here's another point. $125.00 buys you a new Zenith and you still have your old instrument for a "spare" — a higher priced hearing aid with a trade-in leaves you with only one hearing aid which still may have cost you more than the Zenith Royal-T.

Get the hearing help you want and save money at the same time. Prove to yourself what thousands of other Zenith users have proved... that you can't buy a better hearing aid than a Zenith at any price!

MODERN BASTION. Not unlike the forts and castles of old, stands the modern air observation post, built on top of the Glade Township fire house. And this important segment of civilian defense may be the strongest part of America's defense line. Alertness here will help plot the course of invading planes, the blasting of which is our only hope of survival if we are attacked.

LONG VIEW. Despite a hot day haze, this view from the civilian defense observation tower reveals how far a plane spotter can see and how well placed the post is. The spotters use powerful glasses and are tipped off to the approach of a plane by special equipment that spots planes before their eyes can see them.

France Too Weak, Germany Too Strong

By Doris Fleeson

PARIS. -- The bad news is now official. France is too weak. Germany is too strong. Therefore, France will not now join a supra-national organization because the Germans will dominate it. The French National Assembly put it on the record by voting down the European Defense Community. Many Frenchmen, including the government spokesmen and the waiter, were already saying it frankly before the vote was taken. Premier Pierre Mendes-France refused to stake his government on the issue because he, too, felt that way and because he has a social and economic program which he believes will strengthen France and imbue her people with hope and courage. It is his view that then, and then only, France can be persuaded to take the risks of an integrated Europe. These are harsh -- and stubborn -- facts for the Western world. They have been resisted long and thoroughly by French Premiers and American diplomats. Yet no French Premier up to now, including those who presented the most optimistic view to America, ever let EDC come to a vote. This fact did not seem to dent the grand illusion that somehow, some way, by main strength and awkwardness, EDC could be got through the French Assembly. Premier Mendes-France has now destroyed -- or permitted to be destroyed -- a truly staggering amount of self-deception and wishful thinking. This, at least, should be all to the good when the 'agonizing reappraisals,' forecast by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, begin. There are more than 25,000 Americans in France who work for their government. A substantial fraction of them have handsome titles and important jobs, giving them access to French officials, French business, French diplomacy. Yet, up to the end, Congress was led to believe that there was hope for EDC and responded with the aid requested. The American public went along on the same assumption. Part of the general gloom here consists of a realization that fresh ammunition has been handed to the American isolationists. It is recognized that President Eisenhower's hand has been weakened and that France has suffered in the general regard of the American people. Officials of the Mendes-France government say he does not believe the Assembly at last had dropped the other shoe. "EDC, bah," said the headwaiter at Fouquet's on the Champs Elysees. "We know the Germans; we have had them here twice." Some customers nodded agreement. A table full of people speaking German pretended not to notice.

RADIO AND TELEVISION

By John Crosby

THE OTHER SIDE

Well, there are two sides to everything and Jude Harold R. Medina, one of the most highly respected jurists around, has, in the question as to whether television should be permitted to cover Congressional committee hearings, taken the other one.

A week earlier Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, gave his side of the case and a very impressive one, too. Dr. Stanton's main thesis — one that has been stated here a good many times — is that television doesn't create the circus atmosphere, it merely records it. Can you quarrel with a mirror? He also pointed out that much of the excitement generated by TV coverage would die down when the novelty wore off and people got used to it. I happen to agree.

In his rebuttal, Judge Medina, wily jurist that he is, took a single point and clung to it tenaciously. "The real question is whether television and radio interfere with the ascertainment of the true facts. . . . I hope you begin to see how difficult it is to seek and find that sacred, precious thing — the truth. All the resources of the law marshalled by a just, impartial, patient arbiter, who presides over the contest with dignity and restraint, are none too ample for the task in hand.

"But when the judge, the witnesses and the lawyers, perform their functions before the microphones and batteries of floodlights, knowing that perhaps ten millions of people or more are listening or watching, the temptation to put on an act becomes almost irresistible."

The first part of that statement is marked by great nobility. The idea that everything that happens in a properly run courtroom is designed solely to get at "that sacred, precious thing — the truth" is a lofty one. But it simply isn't true. Anyone who has ever covered a court knows that a large part of most any trial is pure obfuscation, not only designed not to get at the truth but designed solely by skillful lawyers to conceal the truth as thoroughly as possible.

And the second paragraph, that "the temptation to put on an act becomes almost irresistible" seems unassailable in the light of the behavior of most everyone at the McCarthy-Army hearings. But let's face it, the temptation to put on an act in the courtroom has been fairly irresistible for centuries without any help from television. Not only lawyers, but witnesses and even some judges have put on acts in courtrooms which have matched in pure ham anything that was seen on the televised hearings.

This argument has been the core of all objections to televising anything remotely resembling judicial proceedings (and some Congressional hearings resemble them very remotely indeed). This argument ignores the fact that these conditions have always existed and were not created by TV. Are they intensified by TV?

Judge Medina in his summation said that the use of radio and television "constitute a psychological and very real barrier which for all practical purposes makes it impossible to get at the truth."

I think the judge here is overplaying the psychological effects of television and under-estimating the psychological effect inherent in any legal proceedings. A witness has a story to tell. A defendant has a defense to make. These things loom a lot larger in every mind than the fact that TV cameras are there. If the issues are important enough, a witness will soon forget all about the cameras.

To even the most innocent man, a witness chair is a hot seat. The cameras don't make it any hotter."

Color TV

Color television will be given much more of a test this year, with a wide variety of programs included. Most shows will not be in color every week, but there will be at least one program to be seen almost daily.

For example, next Tuesday, Meet Millie will be seen in color at nine in the evening. The following evening The Best of Broadway, at ten, will be the colored program.

As the fall weeks roll by you can see quite an array if you have a friend with such a set, or if you want to spend a few dollars for one. The CBS programs to be seen over WBBN from now until April 6 are listed in this issue. Cut it out and keep it for reference. You may have opportunities to see some of them.

Winter Play

Before us is the fall and winter season and those with leisure hours, a pleasure most of us have these days of short work weeks, must find something interesting and beneficial as a hobby or pastime. For those who are fishermen, and this is one of our biggest fields of participants, the season continues for a few weeks, but is close to its finish. Many of these will take to the fields and woods with gun or arrow. The area is well suited to these pleasures, so suited that the invasion by the deer-slayers is big business.

But at the best, this is a short-lived pleasure. Most hunters are lucky to get a pair of good Saturday afternoons for their fun, which lasts only a month for the common kinds of game. Then comes winter.

A recent survey made in the area reveals that a big percentage of the people would like to have skating facilities. There is little doubt but what there will be an effort to provide ice skating in Warren, but when we will not predict. If the long range plan proposed by the Citizens Recreation Committee is approved, a hard surface area will be built on Memorial Field, and in the winter it can be iced by brine pipes. The cost of such a project is not small, but it is the only way ice can be maintained consistently in this varying climate.

A couple of new twists now are being considered that may reduce the cost of such a project to a figure within reach of Warren's budget. Those interested in providing Warren with a well rounded recreation set-up have been doing a major job that does not show. Hours of study and ground work have been put in, and we believe Warren will come up with some excellent facilities and a good program.

With recommendations that are well founded and with the interest of such groups as the Jaycees, much can be done, and the money can be wisely spent. A hodgepodge need not result.

We expect within the next two or three years at the most to see Warren well along the road toward ice skating, tennis, hard surfaced play areas, public swimming, and a suitable auditorium. Dressing rooms and similar facilities to accommodate sports attractions naturally fit into such a picture, and can be built in a way to serve many purposes.

We mention this because there is a natural pessimism here, for which people cannot be blamed, in view of past experiences. But there is new promise in Warren today, new thinking, and vision. We are optimistic. If Warren holds its own economically we are confident it also will do so recreationally.

Getting back to the present and the season ahead, it is not too bleak. The men have the YM, the ladies have the YW, and both have the YM pool. There will be good high school football, basketball, and wrestling. There will be concerts, talks of the month, and plays. There is no end of good reading, and there is a club for nearly any social pleasure. And the bowling alleys offer competition for mixed groups, with some lanes providing cleanly conditions and a friendly atmosphere.

We don't have everything, but a little adjustment will keep you fairly busy and a little initiative and support of proposed projects will broaden the field in the future.

Gun Training Offers Hunting Safety

Increased interest shown by youngsters in guns and hunting brings out the necessity for firearms education. Records show the incidence of gunfire casualties among youngsters decreases to practically zero among those taught safe shooting procedures prior to their first hunting trip. The prospect is, however, that many youthful nimrods will go out for wild game this fall unaccompanied and without previous gun safety training.

It is encouraging to note that the number of men who take their own boy or the son of a neighbor on hunting trips increases each year. At the end of the day the adult's game bag may not be so full as if he had accompanied a shooting crony, but by reliving the excitement of his own early hunting experiences through those of his pupils, and having the satisfaction of teaching safe and mannerly conduct afield, he is amply repaid.

In past years, during September and October, many a Pennsylvania sportsmen's organization has generously assumed the responsibility of teaching boys and girls safe gun handling and has provided shooting on a range under expert guidance. The basic course is sometimes followed by field trips, when safe and courteous hunting practices are taught under natural conditions. Experienced sportsmen are quite willing to lend a hand at instructing novice shooters. The beginner can always locate a club range or other safe spot where he may do his practicing.

Through many high school assembly programs before small game season students are taught the rudiments of proper gun handling and the dangers of reckless shooting. In such programs tens of thousands of teen-agers are taught or reminded that guns improperly used or handled can cause pain or sorrow as well as bring thrills and recreation. It is important the beginner have proper instruction and supervision.

This year, for the first time in Pennsylvania, the Sporting Arms and Manufacturer's Institute offers a gun safety training course through its representative, James Dee, Dee, who resides at Highland Village, Camp Hill, Pa., is the man who introduced the course in the schools of New Hampshire, where it has caught hold rapidly. He is available to sportsmen's clubs, high schools, service organizations and civic groups with his gun safety programs.

Polecats Move To Town

Game Protector A. J. Ziros, Greene County, says many skunks have moved from the country into the town of Carmichaels and have taken over garages and outbuildings there.

The postmaster of Carmichaels told this story to the officer. "I was sitting in my easy chair on the lawn one night not long ago, reading a newspaper. I felt a tickling and scratching on my bare feet. Thinking it was one of my cats I paid no attention. When the animal climbed on my lap and started rolling around, it seemed time to glance down. I did - and took off. So did the 'kitten', a baby skunk."

Importance Of Hunting And Trapping To Industry

The Pennsylvania Industrial and Construction Exposition will be held September 20 to 25, inclusive, in the State Farm Show Building at Harrisburg. Governor John S. Fine said this about the Exposition: "It will be to our State's manufacturing segment what our world-renowned Farm Show has been to our notable agricultural pursuits. I entertain the great belief that this important project will enlist the enthusiastic support and co-operative participation of all our State's business firms and corporations, from the largest to the smallest, from the basic heavy industry producers to our transportation giants."

Exposition visitors will experience a "change of pace" at seeing the Game Commission's wildlife exhibit there, among heavy machines and recently developed engineering and scientific devices. People are beginning to comprehend, however, the economic impact of hunting and trapping on industries and trades. Actually, hunting itself is big business in the Keystone State where, on the basis of man hours afield and hunters per square mile, probably more hunters and fur takers pursue their sport than in any other State. As an indication, a conservative estimate of money spent each year by a million Pennsylvania sportsmen in pursuit of wildlife is one-quarter of a BILLION dollars.

Expenditures by these outdoorsmen, and women, go not only for the purchase of guns, ammunition, traps, bows and arrows, licenses, and for dogs and their training and upkeep. A large portion is paid out for: automotive equipment, gasoline, oil and tires; lodging; food; special clothing and footwear; portable stoves and coolers; knives, axes and cooking utensils; boats; camp furnishings and fuel; photographic equipment and supplies; tents; skis and snowshoes; house trailers; binoculars and gun scopes; magazines and books; and numerous other necessities or luxuries that are part of the modern-day outdoorsman's equipment.

Our tourist industry benefits by millions of dollars spent annually by resident and non-resident hunters who often vacation away from home in game seasons to enjoy the hunters' paradise Pennsylvania offers. Also, though fur values have been comparatively low in recent years, the State's fur industry, garment manufacturers and taxidermists realized considerable profit from wild-caught pelts in the Commonwealth. The estimated value in 1953 was $1,500,000.

A recent-year survey was made of monies spent on hunting and fishing in the United States. (Pennsylvania regularly ranks among states having the highest number of license buyers, therefore her share of the nationwide expenditure is great.) Said the survey, in part: "The sportsman's business (hunting and fishing) nationally is over $9 billion annually. . . . It is nearly 50 percent more than the total business of all gasoline filling stations. It is almost three times the amount paid to dealers in farm equipment. . . . The total spent on sportsmen's dogs alone totaled around $875,000,000 over the nation. That alone exceeds by a wide margin the amount the public paid at the gate to see baseball, football, basketball and hockey games, horse races and prize fights." These amazing statistics are considered conservative.

Yes, the wildlife exhibit at the Exposition, appearing among such recent scientific and engineering achievements as the new solar energy battery and the interplanetary clock, may seem to supply a frontier or nature touch. Nevertheless, and obscure though the effects may be, hunting and trapping in Pennsylvania contribute much to a wide variety of industries and trades. Expenditures for them have a considerable bearing on the economy of our state and nation.

VIEWED FROM INSIDE, the War Memorial Field gates also are attractive. Within these gates it is hoped that plans in the making will provide many more facilities for those who enjoy both spectator and participation sports.

BUYERS' CORNER

Social Security
If there is anything that will affect the economy and the buying power of our nation it is the security of the wage-earner. With some kind of plan for his future in effect he feels easier about his current earnings and is apt to spend more freely. And when the time comes for him to retire he does so more readily if there is an income assured him.

The net result is manifold. Early retirement makes room for those down the line and opens up jobs for the unemployed. And the cost of taking care of the older citizens is systematically and efficiently arranged. Citizens living in their own homes and taking a live part in community life are of much greater value to all concerned than are charity cases and occupants of poor houses.

The changes to the social security act go into effect this fall, and they will be felt right here at home. Warren and Chautauqua counties are teamed up in the security system, with about 12,000 beneficiaries. The increased benefits first will be enjoyed in October when the September checks are received. They will be $90,000 higher than previously, or about fifteen percent up.

The next time a few cents are taken out of your check for social security it may help you to know that the return to this area is not small. The checks in September total about $600,000. This means that the total after the increase will be close to $700,000 in October.

This is quite a figure but eventually it may hit the million dollar mark. This will go into effect when those not now covered become recipients of security funds. The biggest group thus affected are the self-employed farm operators, about three and a half million of them. They and others start January 1. And a change in the law brings another two million farm employees into the fold.

Add to these a couple hundred thousand domestic employees in private households. These people now need to earn only $50 a quarter from one household employer. Formerly they had to work twenty-four days in one household.

There are about three and a half million state and local government employees, formerly excluded because they were under a state retirement system, and there will be ministers, engineers, accountants, funeral directors, architects, and others formerly excluded, who now can be covered if they wish.

Important to you and to those administering the social security benefits is the fact that increases under the new law will come to you automatically. Greater efficiency will result if you do not flood the area office with telephone calls.

In Warren county you can learn the facts about your case by visiting the state armory, on Hickory st., in Warren, between 10:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m., either Tuesday or Friday.

These increases range from the minimum payment of $30, which was $25, to the maximum family payment of $200 which was $168.75. Another important change is the maximum amount of earnings which may count toward social security. This was $3,600 a year. Now it is $4,200.

Another major item to all of us, whether or not we receive social security, is the increase in the amount of money a person may earn and still receive social security. This formerly was $75, or $900 a year. Now a self-employed person may earn $1200 a year and still be eligible, and it applies to earnings whether or not they are covered by social security. And after reaching age 72, you can earn any amount and still receive benefits.

And here is an important slant brought out by Chester R. Norman, manager of the region office. Survivors of workers who died before September 1, 1950, without having acquired enough covered employment to be insured under the old law, may find it now is possible for them to receive payments. If the deceased worker had at least 1 1-2 years of covered work between January 1939 and September 1950, visit the social security office. You may be eligible for regular checks.

This Is Mary Jane

Her father is dead. Her mother had to work and she was looked after by an elderly aunt. Mary Jane cried a lot. She did not laugh and play like other children. Her mother had a serious problem. She knew her aunt couldn't give Mary Jane proper care, but she had to support herself and her child and did not know what to do.

A friend mentioned that often the Children's Aid Society could help in such a situation. There Mary Jane's mother found an understanding worker who helped her arrange for psychological tests for the child. The tests showed that Mary Jane was emotionally high strung and needed constant love and attention. The case worker helped her mother arrange for boarding home care in a family where Mary Jane could have the benefits of a normal family life. Mary Jane's mother contributes money to her care every week and visits her often. Her mother feels secure and confident now that Mary Jane is getting good care. She knows that through the care in the boarding home and the psychological help her child is learning to laugh and play. She knows now that she has a chance to grow up to a happier future.

The Children's Aid Society not only helps Mary Jane but hundreds of other children in the county who come from broken homes or who have serious behavior or health problems. Everyone can help give these less fortunate children of ours a chance for a happy and normal life. They do deserve a better chance, don't they?

Dragons Prep For Season Opener

Defensive football was the order of the day at the Dragon's intra-squad games on War Memorial Field on Labor Day afternoon when two of the games ended in 7 to 0 decisions, and the varsity Blues nudged the varsity Whites, 7 to 6, as the Warren High gridders continued their conditioning for the season opener against Corry. Coach Bell's footballers have only this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon to polish up their rough edges before they meet the league champion Corry Beavers on War Memorial Field, Saturday afternoon. The Beavers have been undefeated since the Dragons downed them, 25 to 13, in the opener of the 1952 season. The Corry eleven rolled over Warren 39 to 6 last year.

Two Fresh Teams opened up the Intra-Squad games on Labor Day afternoon and John Suppa scored a touchdown to give his Blue team 7 to 0 decision over the Reds. Frank Tinelle carried the ball over for the Blue's extra point.

Carl Greco romped into the end zone for a TD and Jim Lopez added the extra point as the Juniors beat the sophomores, 7 to 0 in the day's second game.

Pass Plays accounted for all the scoring in the game between the varsity Blues and the Whites. The Whites drew first scoring blood in the fourth quarter of the feature contest. Two plays after the Whites recovered a Blue fumble on the Blue's 30 yard stripe, Jim Glenzel, a newcomer from Massachusetts, passed to John Powley in the end zone for the White's score. Jim Rose's attempted conversion for the extra point was blocked.

But the Blues recovered quickly after the kickoff and scored on a 50 yard pass play from Don Mohny to Tom LeTrent to even the score. Mohny kicked the extra point and the Blues held the White team in check for the remainder of the contest for a 7 to 6 victory.

King Football will take over top spot in the county sports scene when four county high school football teams start their 1954 campaigns this week end.

Northern Area Knights, under the direction of Coach Norge Luvison, will be the first county high school eleven to see action. They travel to Saegertown Friday, September 10 for a night contest.

Coach Fred Bell's Warren Dragons will host the strong Corry Beavers in a game on War Memorial Field on Saturday afternoon. The game this week starts earlier than usual, kick off time is 1:30.

Sheffield Wolverines will take on Waterford High School at Sheffield on Saturday afternoon. The site of the game has been switched to Sheffield because the Waterford Fair will be set up on the Waterford football field on Saturday afternoon. Ralph Santo is the Sheffield mentor.

Youngsville Eagles, who are coached by Frank Kamus, will open their 1954 football season at Union City on Saturday afternoon.

Sport Boosters Elect

The Ridgway game will be the home-coming contest this fall, on October 23, with the Warren high school team of 1924 as honored guests, both at the game and the smoker the preceding evening. Dick Schumacher, captain of the '24 team, will be in charge.

This was the decision of the Warren Sport Boosters when they met Tuesday to elect officers. Chosen were Neil Culbertson as president, Willis T. Lundahl as vice president, N. K. Wendelboe as secretary, and Harold Johnson was re-elected treasurer. They meet again September 15.

Dr. Reese, Kermit Forsgren, and James Scalise were picked to serve as directors for the next three years. They will join Creed Erickson, Joseph Passaro, R. J. Reed, Donald McComas, Nick Creola, and C. T. Berdine who are now directors of the organization.

Ludlow Wildcats Shut Out the Jo-Jo All-Stars and were downed by the Jamestown Steel Partition Bombers in baseball action over the Labor Day week end at Wildcat Park.

The 'Cats blanked the Jo-Jo nine, 2 to 0, in a Labor Day afternoon contest. Fred Gray, who had hurled 5 1-2 innings in relief in Sunday's game, went the distance on the mound for the 'Cats. Ludlow scored the only two runs of the afternoon in the fourth inning on catcher Jiggs Juban's single which followed a single by Dean Whittaker and a two-base Jo-Jo error. Felton and Smads were the losers' battery.

Ludlow fell before the Bombers, 8 to 6, in an 11-inning affair at Ludlow on Sunday afternoon. The Bombers pounced on the Ludlow starter, Terry Carll, for three quick runs before Fred Gray came in to put out the fire. After the 'Cats had evened the score the Bombers got to Gray for three more runs to go out in front, 6 to 3. But the lead was short lived as the Wildcats roared back to tie the game at 6 all.

Keith Holden relieved Gray on the mound for Ludlow and finished the game in sensational fashion. He fanned 11 and allowed the Bombers only 2 hits which came in the eleventh inning along with a walk to give the Bombers their winning margin.

Tickets For The Theater Telecast of the Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles heavyweight championship fight to be shown at the Stanley-Warner Theater in Erie on Wednesday, September 15 at 9 p. m., can be purchased now at the Library Theater. The tickets are $3 each.

There are no reserved seats but no ticket holder will have to stand as the number of tickets to be sold for the telecast of the fight will equal the number of seats in the theater.

Home viewers will be unable to see the championship bout on their own TV sets because the fight is being telecast on a closed circuit to only selected movie theaters.

Corning Red Sox Copped The 1954 Pony League Flag even though they won one less game than the runner-up Jamestown Falcons. The Corning nine won 77 games and lost 47 for a percentage of .621 and the Falcons took 78 games but dropped 48 contests and had a percentage of .619. League rules don't require that games be made up after the regular season ends.

Jamestown was the Pony League champion last season and the Corning team were last year's Pony League cellar dweller.

Reserve Seat Tickets for the Warren-Corry football game to be played on War Memorial Field next Saturday afternoon have been placed on sale by the Warren Jaycees at the United Cigar Store and the B & B Smoke Shop.

Ticket holders will have definite seats this year instead of being placed in a reserved section as was the case last year.

The Warren Jaycees also have

Industrial League Highlights

Scheduled action in the second half of the Industrial Softball loop neared the end and playoffs to decide the league champion will start next week. The Warren Merchants who took first half honors in the loop, will meet the second half winners. Texas Lunch is now leading the loop for the second half with 11 wins and 3 losses but the Thomas Coupling team is hot on their heels with 10 victories and 3 setbacks.

Emblem Oil scored the upset of the week by edging the league-leading Texas Lunch team 5 to 4. Emblem came through with 3 runs in the last two innings to down the league leaders. The game had to be called at the end of seven innings because of darkness. Dave Lopez's homerun was the big blow of the game for the Couplers. Tony Tomassoni had a round tripper for the winners also and Bill Massa blasted out one for Texas Lunch. Lee Graham was the winning hurler for Thomas and Tomassoni was his receiver. Bob Harrison and Bill Brown were the loser's battery.

Texas Lunch used a four-run seventh inning to down the Warren Merchants 6 to 3. The winners collected only 5 hits but 4 of the bingos were doubles by Monk Murphy, Bill Massa, Bill Brown and Jack White. Bob Harrison and Bill Brown were the winners' battery and Ken Sorenson and Rico Bonavita, the Merchants' battery.

Scoring 14 Runs in the first three innings, the Merchants easily whipped Keystone Garage 16 to 5. Ken Sorenson picked up his 21 win of the season as he went the whole way on the hill for the winners.

Second-Place Thomas Coupling scored in every inning to defeat Keystone Garage 18 to 9. It was the seventh straight win for the Couplers. Thomas batters collected 11 of the 15 extra base hits hammered out during the contest.

In other action, Emblem Oil scored 6 times in the first inning and went on to whip Struthers 15 to 5. Grinnell was the winning hurler.

Neil K. Culbertson has been elected president of the Warren Sports Boosters Association for the coming year. He succeeds Dr. Charles Reese. Other officers selected were Willis Lundahl, vice president; N. K. Wendelboe, secretary; and Harold Johnson, treasurer.

KEGLING RUMBLES

Definitely starting next week at the Penn will be the Ladies City, Monday at seven, the Industrial, Tuesday at seven, the Women's Major, Wednesday at 6:45, Peg's at 6:30 that evening, and the Ladies Minor, at nine. OBSERVATIONS

By Bob Walsh

Politics

Coming up is an election, a very quiet one, but also very important. Locally it does not shape up as one that will attract a major vote. There are no local offices to be filled and the issues are state or national. And they are not issues which move people to vote.

This does not mean that the issues are unimportant. The fact is they are just as important as those which in the past have brought the voters out in large numbers.

It is expected that President Eisenhower will take a very active part in this campaign. And he will not be asking you to vote for congressmen on their individual records, or even on the record of congress. His plea will be that Republicans should be returned to Washington to support the Eisenhower program.

How well the Democrats will meet this approach depends on the national leadership which up to now hasn't shown great signs of brilliance when it comes to choosing campaign issues. But anyone who has followed the Washington scene knows that it was Republican segments of the congress which gave the President's program a rough time. If he had not enjoyed much support from Democrats, a major portion of his program would have been defeated.

It is conceivable that a clear-cut Republican majority would completely ham-string President Eisenhower. But he must take that chance. Because passage of his program by a Democrat majority would make it necessary for that party in 1956 to do no more than suggest a change of leaders with the proper label.

Much of the Eisenhower program has been a watered down version of Democrat proposals, proposals that were slapped down by Republican and Dixiecrat coalitionists. Much of that which is in the talking stage originated in Democrat administrations. Only that portion which favors big business, and there is quite a load of such action, can be classified as strictly Republican.

Locally the issues are few. We find the Democrats showing a bit of life by running two respected men for legislative offices. Fred Barr, of Tidioute, is opposing Congressman Gavin, and Lewis Crippen, of Youngsville, is running against Assemblyman Gibson, of Sheffield.

The Democrats could use more of the same, and the biggest shot in the arm to Warren county politics will be the day when the two party system is revived. This will not happen until enough respected citizens choose to make the sacrifice of registering and working as Democrats. Many who are at least borderline independents and do not put much stock in political labels are registered Republican only because they believe they are denied a vote unless they can cast it in the Republican primary. It also saves much face in an area where social and business connections are apt to be Republican.

It will take courage and sacrifice to build a two-party system in Warren county and much credit must be given to men like Crippen and Barr for lending their names and time.

The opposition for these men amounts to more than two individuals. The Republican candidates are supported by a powerful and efficient organization which can efficiently turn on the steam when it wants a large vote. Gavin's record is far from sensational, and it reveals very little done for Warren county. But the big counties below us will support him even if Warren county could muster enough opposition to give Barr a majority, which is extremely unlikely.

Assemblyman Gibson is popular and well liked. Many consider him the real head of the Republican party in Warren county today. If the party chieftains want it this way they will put all their forces to work in his support. And when such a powerhouse concentrates on a single man, he is very apt to win.

The real target in all of this 1954 maneuver, as far as Warren county is concerned, is to elect a governor. Both parties want a big vote to off-set slim majorities in other areas. Though the Democrats may not be able to win in Warren county, good candidates and a strong campaign may get out enough votes to be of real use in the state total.

The Republicans for the same reason can lose nothing by backing a strong man like Assemblyman Gibson. Most votes for the Assemblymen also will be votes for the Republican gubernatorial candidate.

One of the issues in the Assembly campaign may be the sales tax. Those who hate this tax may step across party lines to vote against Assemblyman Gibson who was a strong supporter of the levy. However, there may be many who believe the tax is a good one, and may support him because of it.

The tax, incidentally, has not produced the estimated revenue, according to a financial report of Governor Fine. What effect this will have on the future of the tax we are uncertain, but obviously there will be those who will attempt to revoke it because of its inadequacy, and there will be others who will say it has not been bothersome and should be increased another penny or two. We suspect it will be around for a few years.

As for Gavin's record, that will take a column in itself, and it will be published in this paper very soon. Small comment will be necessary. It speaks against itself.

COUNTY NEWS in brief . . .

Polio Quarantines Were Placed on numerous homes in the Willoughby ave. and Quaker Hill area of Warren over the holidays. About fifteen children were confined to their homes after it was learned that they had been in contact with David Engle, age 6 1-2 and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Engle of 207 Orchard st. The Engle boy was visiting his grandparents when his case was discovered. He has been taken to the Lakeview Hospital in Erie.

Another case reported is that of Joyce Thomas, age 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, who reside near Spartansburg. Her case which involves a slight paralysis of the right leg, is not considered serious. She also is in the Lakeview Hospital.

Forty Days In Jail may be served by Arthur Bacon of Union City who was arraigned Friday before Justice Tracy M. Greenlund on charges of disorderly conduct and assault and battery. The charge resulted from an attack by Bacon on Andrew Cov of Sheffield in the Shaw House. Bacon was fined $10 and costs for disorderly conduct, in default of which he was given 30 days in jail. He was fined $25 and costs and given 30 days for assault and battery, but in default of the fine the sentence was extended to 40 days. If Bacon pays his fine he will serve 30 days. If he does not, his time in jail will be 40 days.

Justice Greenlund also fined two illegal train riders from Cherry Creek and Scranton. One paid a fine of $10 and the other is in jail for 5 days.

Microfilming Newspapers by the Warren Public Library no longer will be done with a rented machine. The library will purchase a machine of its own, with some of the funds coming from The Friends of The Warren County Library. This work is being done just in time, many of the old papers disintegrating as they are opened. Surprisingly, the older papers seem to be on a quality of stock that holds up better than the newer issues.

The Community Chest goal this fall will be $59,900, the same as 1953, and the drive will last from October 18 to 25. Holding to the figure has meant more denial on the part of participating agencies, many of whom need more funds to do their work. Those benefiting from the drive are the Boy Scouts, the Child Health Center, Children's Aid Society, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Warren Relief Assn., Warren Visiting Nurses Assn., the Y. M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., and the USO.

Meet Our Full Slate invites the Warren county Republican party, which will bring all of its state candidates to Warren for a reception and buffet luncheon in the YWCA, next Wednesday, from 11 to 1:30. Ralph Sires is chairman of the function and Republican women will serve the luncheon. All are invited and are urged to meet the candidates.

The group will come from Bradford and will visit St. Marys after leaving Warren. In the party will be Lloyd H. Wood, candidate for governor; Frank R. Truscott, Lt. governor hopeful; Mrs. Gaynelle M. Dixon, candidate for secretary of internal affairs; judge of superior court aspirants, George W. Griffith, Ralph T. Bell, and Robert E. Woodside.

Congressman Leon H. Gavin, Assemblyman Allen M. Gibson, and State Senator Leroy E. Chapman also will be there.

Political Preparations now begin to make news, with the Republicans announcing plans for the election of their 210 candidates to the state house. Sixteen regions have been established, with Warren in region 14. House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson of Smethport will be chairman of this region which also includes Clearfield, Cameron, Elk, Forest, and McKean Counties.

Safe Flying for pleasure or business will receive much emphasis in Warren, Sunday, when the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce will have its second annual air fair. A wide variety of new planes will be on hand for inspection with much stress on the safe planes available for executive flying by plant officials.

There will be many planes present for passenger flights, and there will be demonstrations of twin-engine planes flying safely on one motor. One of these is the Aero Commander which carries seven passengers and recently flew 1160 miles, from Oklahoma City to Washington, on a single engine.

The fair will start at noon and last until dusk.

More Firemen are needed to serve in an emergency. Civilian defense classes in fire fighting now are being held and the first one was not well attended this week. The next will take place Thursday, September 16, in the Warren municipal building. The classes will last three hours, and will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, either in the municipal building or the Central fire station. If we are attacked, many auxiliary firemen trained in the use of equipment, will be very much needed.

About Seven Accidents occurred in the Warren county area over the holiday week end, with three people injured and one car demolished. Most of the accidents were caused by careless driving.

Elwood Gesaman, 18, of Ashville R. D. 2, demolished his car when he left the road near Sugar Grove Monday morning and sheared off two utility poles. Gesaman was admitted to the Jamestown general hospital with head and shoulder injuries. Emmett Ecker, Jr., a passenger, also of Ashville R. D. 2, was treated for head injuries and discharged.

Lacerations and abrasions were suffered by Anne B. Erdely, of the Warren State hospital, Sunday evening on the Hatch Run Road when she ran into a car driven by Sylvester C. Mullen, of 400 Third Ave., Warren. Damages totaled $600.

The remainder of the accidents involved no more than car damages.

Still Coming In, and in dribbles we fear, is money for the emergency March of Dimes. Up to yesterday the figure for Warren county had reached $2885.89.

Also A Bit Short was the blood contribution yesterday. The bloodmobile took 113 pints away from Warren, a bit shy of the 125 goal.

No School In Youngsville for a few weeks. Delay in the building program has postponed opening, and the date set now is October 4.

Good Pens Are At Hand in Warren's post office now, thanks to Les Anderson and Bob Fosburg. They have provided modern ballpoints, with chains. The pens will not be replaced and patrons are asked to use them carefully, and especially are asked to leave them where they are. Refills and replacements must come out of post office funds, of which there are none for such excellent equipment.

Chest X-Rays at no cost to you, thanks to the Christmas seals you used last Christmas, will be available in Warren county, starting next week. The x-ray truck will make the rounds with a schedule set up for most industrial plants.

In addition it will stop in most of the county's communities. The x-ray does not require undressing and takes very little time. If caught soon enough, most troubles discovered by this means can be overcome.

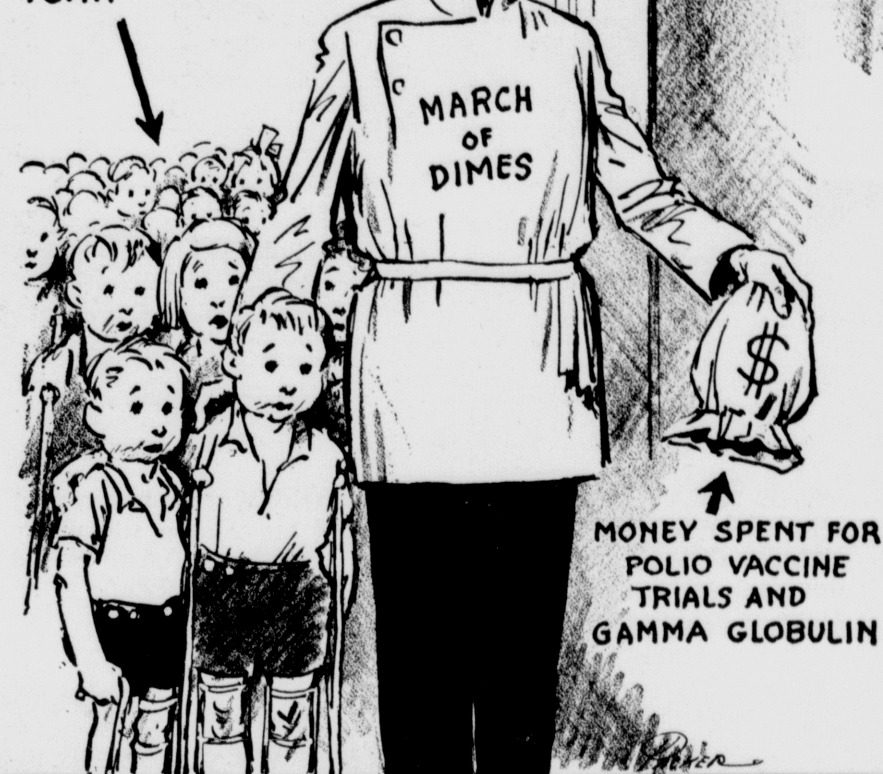

The first public stop will be in Tidioute next Thursday, at 10:30 a. m. On Friday, September 17, it will be in front of Montgomery Ward, Liberty st., Warren, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. The next day it visits Sheffield, from nine to noon. Its additional public stops will be listed here in our next issue.

Found Floating In Lake Erie, yesterday was the body of Andy Horzontor, known to friends in Warren as Big Andy, and an employee of the Warren State hospital. Officials could not account for the man's death. Evidently no signs of violence were found. He was last seen in Warren, Tuesday. It is believed he resided at the Revere House.

Robbery Is The Charge against two Warren County residents, Andrew Lucks, 25, Warren, and his brother, Fred Lucks, 26, of Jackson Run rd., who Erie officials claim robbed Holden Johnson of Union City R. D. 1, August 31. It is alleged they beat Johnson and took $150.

Accident Antidote

THERE IS a sickness upon America's streets and highways, a malady causing terrible death and misery. It is diagnosed as avoidable accidents.

There is an antidote for this sickness. It is a thorough knowledge of the hows, the wheres and the whys of accidents, for no cure can ever be effected until the causes are known.

But statistics alone make a pill almost too bitter to swallow. So we have sugar-coated this pill with pictures. We have leavened the morbid facts with laughter in order to help you get it down. We also have hoped the pill thus taken would do the patient some good.

However, a sick man is difficult to cure if he does not want to help himself. Some even work at it. In fact they drive themselves to eternity.

THE ONLY BUILDING on Warren's War Memorial field today contains the rest rooms. Other than this facility, a gate, and a fence, much of which came from Russell field, Warren has gained little since it moved the site of its sports attractions. Future spending should be done wisely and after long range planning.

MORE PLAY AREA or perhaps parking might be obtained by buying this area between Memorial field and the tracks, and including the buildings which belong to Nelson and Elberg.

The Warren High School Class of 1941 held its first reunion, Saturday, September 4, at the Marconi Outing Club. In attendance at a delicious dinner served by the Lewis Catering Service were 150 people, consisting of former classmates, their wives, husbands and guests. A program during the dinner and dancing afterward highlighted the reunion. Jerry Waxman, chairman, headed the following committee: Betty Geer, Betty Bova, Autumn Doherty, Thelma Wolfe, Harry Conroy (Class President), Merle Seymour, Gabe Chimenti, Harold Johnson and Gene Pring. The next reunion was tentatively set for 1956.
